

ANNOUNCEMENT

HEDNO announces that, due to severe technical fault that occurred on Monday 9.02.2015 in PPC's Autonomous Power Generation Plant in Rhodes – and until its complete restoration – it is possible to proceed to interruptions in consumers' electricity supply by turns with limited duration depending on the available capacity in order to avoid massive power interruption.

The schedule for power interruptions by turns that was announced yesterday, Wednesday 11.2.2015 was not applied thanks to the active participation of consumers by limiting electricity consumption, as well as due to weather conditions that prevailed in the area which enabled power generation from Renewable Energy Sources (wind farms) and led to the increase of the available capacity.

HEDNO would like to express its gratitude to consumers for their active participation in the effort to avoid exceptional power interruptions and invites them to continue this effort by limiting electricity consumption to the minimum necessary (especially between 18:30 and 21:30).

Indicative schedule is attached concerning power interruptions by turns that are possible to occur today, Thursday 12.2.2015, between 18:30 and 21:30 in Rhodes with estimated duration of 30 minutes per scheduled region group.

All HEDNO's employees are making efforts to provide consumers the best possible provision of services.
